

Hazard Girls Podcast, S4 E22, Oct. 17, 2022

Presented by: Jacket Media Co.

Play Here: <https://jacketmediaco.com/podcasts/hazard-girls/>

HAZARD GIRLS™
Women in Non-Traditional Fields

Brought to you by:
Jacket Media Co.
The Manufacturing and Business
Podcast Network

Which Also Includes:
Manufacturing Talk Radio
Women And Manufacturing
Manufacturing Matters with Cliff Waldman
Moser on Manufacturing
The Flagship Reports

www.jacketmediaco.com

Season 4, Episode #22

DIANA SKELLENGER

CEO and Founder, Skelly Build

The promotional graphic for the podcast episode features a photograph of Diana Skellenger on the left. The right side has an orange background with white text. It includes the 'HAZARD GIRLS' logo, the presenter information for Jacket Media Co., a list of other podcasts in the network, the website URL, the episode details (Season 4, Episode #22), the guest's name 'DIANA SKELLENGER' in large bold letters, and her title 'CEO and Founder, Skelly Build'.

HAZARD GIRLS EPISODES

Episode Description

When Diana Skellenger graduated from the University Of Texas with a degree in Public Relations she never imagined a career in construction would be in her future. On this episode of Hazard Girls, Host Emily Soloby shares an amazing conversation with Diana who recounts her incredible journey to her position as CEO and Founder of Skelly Build. Skelly Build is a residential and commercial construction firm in Austin Texas, where 12 out of 16 construction employees are women. Diana and Emily talk about the unique and all-too-common challenges of being a woman in a male-populated industry, and how that differs from life at her firm. She also touches on balancing her roles as CEO, wife and mother, her many career accomplishments, and some hard-earned advice for women looking for a career in construction. Learn more about your ad choices. Visit megaphone.fm/adchoices show less

Title: Running a female-dominated construction firm, with Skelly Build CEO

Duration: 39 min 14 sec

Description: When Diana Skellenger graduated from the University of Texas with a degree in Public Relations she never imagined a career in construction would be in her future. On this episode of Hazard Girls, Host Emily Soloby shares an amazing conversation with Diana who recounts her incredible journey to her position as CEO and Founder of Skelly Build. Skelly Build is a residential and commercial construction firm in Austin Texas, where 12 out of 16 construction employees are women. Diana and Emily talk about the unique and all-too-common challenges of being a woman in a male-populated industry, and how that differs from life at her firm. She also touches on balancing her roles as CEO, wife and mother, her many career accomplishments, and some hard-earned advice for women looking for a career in construction.